

Women in Health Leadership

One-day symposium, North Sydney (NSW), 1 May 2015

The NSW State Branch Council invites you to our exciting Women in Health Leadership one-day symposium, Friday 1 May 2015 at the NAB MLC Building, North Sydney.

The symposium will explore inspirational insights from a range of senior female leaders in health. The aim is to

- enhance key skills to optimise leadership impact
- improve healthcare in a high-pressure environment.

In addition, the event will cover specific strategies to overcome sector challenges and techniques to advance women's' healthcare career performance.

Networking drinks will conclude the day.

Event MC:

Julie McCrossin – former presenter from ABC and Network Ten, specialising in health, welfare and education, with a strong rural focus

Julie McCrossin Sue Langley Alison Verhoeven Matina Jewell Jeannine Biviano

Featured speakers:

Sue Langley – CEO Langley Group and Emotional Intelligence Worldwide

Alison Verhoeven – CEO Australian Healthcare and Hospitals Association

Matina Jewell – 15-year military career, bestselling author, successfully led a UN peacekeeping mission in Lebanon, trained with US Navy SEALs

Jeannine Biviano – 2013 Telstra NSW Business Woman of the Year Deputy Secretary, Finance, Strategy and Operations for the NSW Department of Trade and Investment

Christine Dennis – CEO Australian Council on Healthcare Standards

Sponsors

Early Bird rates (extended for two weeks only) – register by 28 Feb

Member $295

Non-member $395

After early bird rates (starting 1 Mar)

Member $350

Non-member $450

Student $295

Event details

Date: Friday, 1 May 2015

Time: 9:00am - 6:00pm

Venue: NAB MLC Building

Address: 105 Miller Street, North Sydney NSW 2060

RSVP: Monday, 20 April, 2015

To register visit achsm.org.au

Australasian College of Health Service Management

National Office – Macquarie Hospital, Wicks Road, North Ryde, NSW 2113

T: 61 +2 9878 3484

E: therese.elbayeh@achsm.org.au